IDOLS OF THE HINDOOS

There Are Hundreds of Millions of Them In India.

THE FAME OF JUGGERNAUT.

This Idol Has Been Worshiped About Two Thousand Years, and His National Temple Is on the Sands of Puri—The Three Monster Cars.

If I were asked to describe India the first remark that would spring from my lips would be, "It is a land of idols." It would be impossible to compute the number of idols that there must be at the present time in India. The Hindoos pretend to have 333,000,000 gods, and these are represented by innumerable idols, so that we are quite bewildered with the thought of taking the census of the idols of India. The population of the whole Indian empire is now about 309,000,000, and possibly the country contains ten times as many idols as people.

Benares is the great center of the idol making business, though in all parts of India the trade flourishes. Potters the day through may be seen in the sacred city molding images of clay for temporary use. Sculptors also may be found producing representatives of the gods in stone or marble. Carpenters, moreover, make great wooden idols for the temples, and workers in metal—goldsmiths, coppersmiths and brass workers—turn out more or less highly finished specimens in their respective metals.

When speaking of idols it should be borne in mind that the images turned out by the potter, sculptor, carver or manufacturer are not considered sacred or fit to be worshiped until certain mystic words have been uttered over them by a priest. The ceremony of "the giving of life," as it is called, to the image is a very solemn affair, and when it is done the idol is regarded as holy and must ever afterward be approached and treated with the utmost reverence.

Out of the many millions of so called gods in India, all of whom are counted worthy of worship, three are regarded as specially sacred and form the Hindoo triad or trinity. They are respectively Brahma, Vishnu and Siva. Of those it is stated the second person of the trinity only has been represented on this earth by human incarnations. Through one or all of these gods the Hindoos believe they may obtain salvation. Brahma represents the way of salvation by wisdom, Vishnu by faith and Siva by works. It is immaterial which method is adopted, as they all lead to the same goal.

Juggernaut is perhaps the most famous name among all the Hindoo idols, inasmuch as his fame has gone forth into every land. His temple is situated on the sandy shores of Orissa, washed by the wild waves of the bay of Bengal. The worship of Juggernaut dates back nearly 2,000 years, and Orissa has been the holy land of the Hindoos from that time till the present day.

Sir William [illegible], who was one of the greatest authorities on things East Indian, says in a wonderfully graphic description of the temple of Juggernaut: "On the inhospitable sands of Puri, a place of swamps and inundations, the Hindoo religion and Hindoo superstitution have stood at bay for eighteen centuries against the world. Here is the national temple whither the people flock to worship from every province of India. There is the gate of heaven whither thousands of pilgrims come to die, lulled to this last sleep by the roar of the eternal ocean."

Well, I saw on one occasion that marvelous sight, the dragging of Juggernaut's car and the cars of his brother and sister. The three idols are inseparable, and ugly things they are, being nothing but huge logs of wood coarsely fashioned into human shape, but without arms or legs.

Juggernaut's car stands forty-one feet high and has fourteen enormous wheels. The other two cars are just a little smaller. The great cars have to be dragged a certain distance—half a mile or more from the temple—and the god will not allow horses or elephants to undertake the work, but calls upon his faithful worshipers to do it themselves. Immense ropes, or, rather, cables, are attached to the cars, and at the word of command from the priests thousands of men and even women and children rush forward and seize the ropes and range themselves in order and the next moment are straining and pulling at the cumbersome conveyances, which at length move with a heavy, creaking noise.

Never shall I forget the sight. The road was filled with tens of thousands of lookers-on, all wild with excitement, and the fanatics who held the ropes were dragging the cars along with frenzied zeal. Every now and then there would be a stop that the men might rest, I supposed, but instead of resting they took to jumping in the air and to whirling themselves around like dancing dervishes and shouting at the top of their breath: "Victory! Victory to Juggernaut!"

Once on a time infatuated worshipers would throw themselves under the wheels of the mighty car that they might be crushed to death, counting it a privilege and a joy thus to perish. Some might do it today if the paternal British government did not provide against such catastrophes by taking all due precaution.—John J. Pool, B. D., F. R. G. S., in Los Angeles Times.

Yellow Fever.

The first appearance of yellow fever is said to have been among the soldiers of Columbus in 1495.

A TENDERFOOT'S REVENGE.

Bully of New Mexico Town Had the Tables Turned on Him.

The average tenderfoot is not a coward. He simply lacks ranch experience. An illustration of this fact occurred down in New Mexico several years ago. One day a pale looking, thin and sickly young man alighted from the train and put up at the little adobe hotel at Bernal Springs. The tenderfoot walked up to the bar and called for a bottle of soda pop. "Tain't allowed to drink that sort o' stuff out here," said a toughy. "What you want is a stiff drink o' red liquor. Mr. Barkeeper, set out the pison for this young feller." "You have the best of me," replied the tenderfoot, "and I'll have to drink the stuff, but I hope the time may come when I can make you drink my choice of liquid."

The tenderfoot raised the glass and gulped down the whisky. Sandy had had his way about it, and he made no effort to comprehend the vague remark of the stranger. The tenderfoot left for a ranch down the Pecos the next day after the incident in the saloon, and he was forgotten until one afternoon more than a year afterward a strong, healthy looking young man rode up to the hotel on a broncho, dropped the bridle reins upon the ground and dismounted. He had the appearance of a typical young man of the range. His face was bronzed and his eyes clear and penetrating. "I owe a fellow a debt which I believe I will pay right now," the stranger said.

No sooner had he made the remark than he walked off in the direction of Sandy, who had his gun in his right hand and was firing it into the air every few steps. The stranger approached Sandy, pulled his gun and unceremoniously dragged the bully up to the saloon and led him in that fashion up to the bar. "Get me a pan of water and set it upon the floor," he said to the barkeeper.

The order was complied with, Sandy standing there meekly, wondering what was going to happen to him. "Now, get down on the floor and drink water out of that pan like a dog," the former tenderfoot ordered. Sandy at first refused, but when the stranger began twirling his gun around on his forefinger and said the order must be obeyed the cowed fellow unlimbered and lay down upon the floor and began drinking water out of the pan.—Denver Field and Farm.

WATERLOO.

The Immutability of the Famous Old Battlefield.

One of the most striking features of a visit to the battlefield of Waterloo today is the immutability of the entire scene in which one of the greatest battles of history took place. Notwithstanding the many years that have passed since the memorable day of June 18, 1815, the entire scene of the battle remains practically unchanged and untouched, and the very buildings around which the tide of battle surged the fiercest, save for the necessary restorations of the damage they sustained in the conflict, remain exactly as they were, nor has any encroachment of building or progress marred the historic field.

The battlefield of Waterloo is an open, undulating stretch of good farming land. On the day of the battle the greater part of it was covered with crops of rye, wheat, barley and oats, and the same crops are still grown there each season. The field is intersected by two highroads branching at Mont St. Jean, the one on the right leading to Nivelles, while that on the left, which lay in the center of both armies, led south to Genappe, Charleroi and Namur. Upon the crest of the ridge which formed the first of the allied positions a crossroad runs east and west. This road, on approaching the spot where the "Lion of Waterloo" now stands, ran through a cut in the crest some twelve to fourteen feet deep, and it was this point that was known after the battle as the Hollow Road. Some 500 yards to the southeast of the "Lion" is the farm of La Haye Sainte, while about 900 yards to the southwest stands Hougoumont, the old chateau, farmhouse, outbuildings, walled garden and orchard, which played such an important part in the fate of the day. These buildings are nearly 300 years old and were built with a view to their defense, as many old stone loopholes still to be found testify. — Robert Howard Russell in Metropolitan Magazine.

Insomnia.

Insomnia is the not uncommon fate of the brain worker who after years of continuous mental strain retires from active life. The reason is that mental activity demands a large supply of blood for the brain, and the blood vessels gradually accommodate themselves to this large supply. But when the hard work is over the brain does not always realize that it needs less nourishment, and hence the condition of excessive mental activity which is what insomnia is.—London Mail.

Suspicious.

A Striking Misapprehension.

Officer—Excuse me, madam; there goes eight bells. It's my watch on deck. Mrs. Lansman—Well, I don't blame you for keeping your watch on deck if it strikes as loudly as that.—Harper's Weekly.

The favor of great men and the praise of the world are not much to be relied on.—French Proverb

A SURPRISED SWORDSMAN.

Judge Goffe's Play With a Bragging Fencing Master.

A fencing master appeared in Boston one winter in the seventeenth century and had erected a stage on which he strutted up and down at certain hours, defying any and all to engage in sword play with him.

After this had gone on for several days and the man's boasts had become insufferable Judge William Goffe and Edward Whalley, the famous English political refugees, disguised themselves in masks' costume and appeared before the alleged master. Goffe had in one hand a cheese wrapped in a napkin, which he used for a shield, and carried a mop which he had soaked in muddy water as he passed a puddle.

Thus equipped, the judge mounted the stage. The fencer railed at him for his impudence, asked him what business he had there and ordered him to begone. The judge stood his ground. Then the gladiator made a pass at him with his sword to drive him off. The judge received the sword in his cheese and held it there till he had drawn the mop over the professor's face and smeared him with mud. Another plunge by the enraged maitre d'armes resulted similarly, this time the judge poking the mop into his eyes. This operation was repeated a third time.

Then the maddened fencing master dropped his ordinary sword and grabbed up a huge broadsword. Thereupon the judge said:

"Stop, sir! Hitherto, you see, I have only played with you and not attempted to do you harm, but if you come at me now with the broadsword know that I will certainly take your life!"

The master was impressed by the firmness with which the judge spoke, for he dropped the point of his weapon and exclaimed: "Who can you be? You must be either Goffe, Whalley or the devil, for there was no other man in England that could beat me!"—Boston Post.

HE GOT THE TICKET.

A Simple Little Errand That Made a Lot of Commotion.

One of the most amusing accidents imaginable happened to an old gentleman in one of our large eastern cities. He was asked to buy a ticket to a fireman's ball and good naturedly complied. The next question was what to do with it. He had two servants, either of whom would be glad to use it, but he did not wish to show favoritism.

Then it occurred to him that he might buy another ticket and give both his servants a pleasure. Not knowing where the tickets were sold, he inquired of a policeman, and the officer suggested that he go to the engine house. So the old gentleman went to the engine house that evening, but there was no one in sight. He had never been in such a place before and stood for a moment or so uncertain how to make his presence known.

Presently he saw an electric button on the side of the room, and he put his thumb on it.

The effect was electrical in every sense of the word. Through the ceiling, down the stairs and from every other direction firemen came running and falling, the horses rushed out of their stalls, and, in short, all the machinery of a modern engine house was instantly in motion.

Amid all this uproar stood the innocent old gentleman, who did not suspect that he had touched the fire alarm until the men clamored around him for information as to the locality of the fire.

Then he said mildly, "I should like to buy another ticket for the ball, if you please."

The situation was so ludicrous that there was a general shout of laughter, and the old gentleman bought his ticket, and the engine house resumed its former state of quiet.—Exchange.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

California as a National Unit

California's state day, which commemorates our admission into the Union, dawns upon us once again and we may rightfully crow more shrilly and jubilantly than we are wont to do on national holidays, for provincial hilarity may properly be more boisterous, and as this is a western celebration we are very properly expected to "whoop 'er up." Yet we will not drown out the echo of the greater celebrations just past, nor would we, for we all appreciate the fact that we are but a unit in the great and growing United States, to whom as a State we seek to be a helpful concomitant, contributing what we can of wealth, energy and intelligence to the country as a whole, adding in general to the national prestige. We are proud of California because she has been enabled to hold her own so well. There is an inward satisfaction which no celebrating can truly express in the thought that we of the Pacific boundary are in such close contact with Washington, D. C., and we have come to be regarded as a potent factor in national progress. At one time a Californian for President was deemed an utter impossibility, but let us forge ahead and it will not be an improbability. Our statesmen and orators are picked from the nation for posts of the highest duty and responsibility. We have the talent and the energy in California, which all the nation recognizes.

Our resources are great contributing factors to the national wealth. Our commercial vantage has been recognized by the advocating of the fleet for our waters. We have been very busy at home developing our trade and our resources, and the result is the recognition that has been accorded us.

We have perhaps felt the pressure of hard times in this State, but not the pressure felt elsewhere. Here it means tight money, but money to a Californian is not everything. The native or old resident knows how to take his ease and contentment while waiting for business to pick up. The newly adopted sons and daughters of California, accustomed to the close dealing and economy of other sections, hardly notice the reef California takes in her sails to brave the wind of adversity. So will these times pass, and meanwhile we have our glorious climate, our abundant crops, our health and contentment. Surely these are not without value. Let critics say we Americans are money mad. Californians will take their share of the accusation, but we of this State are well enough balanced to keep our heads, and we are looking forward to a period of the greatest prosperity. We are fortunate in having as a candidate for President a man who is thoroughly acquainted with California and her problems. California is fortunate also in having Sonoma county's gifted orator, Congressman Duncan McKinlay, as the close ally and friend of the great American who will undoubtedly outline the policy of the nation for the next four years to come. California will be close up and well taken care of with Taft in the Presidential chair.

With a promising outlook and a present which but disciplines a pleasure loving, easy going, used-to-plenty people, what need be more fitting than a long and loud crow for our Golden State on the Ninth of September?

The Department of University Extension in Agriculture announces a State Farmers' Institute, to be held at the University Farm at Davis, on the 8th, 9th and 10th of October. These State Institutes have come to be recognized features in the Extension work in Agriculture here in California, and their influence has proven to be of great value in advancing the agricultural and horticultural interests of our State. Special efforts are being made so that the contemplated Institute will be more valuable than any that have preceded it.

The women suffragists should mend their declaration that they want "justice, not gallantry," for every woman should appreciate the latter, for it is on the wane. If men are careless of civilities to women they can rightfully ascribe it to the class who spurn it. Pending the justice women seek let them by all means cherish gallantry.

Voters should remember that they must re-register for the coming election else they will lose their ballots. This is a civic duty that no citizen ought to neglect. If you have not done so already go to it before September 23d, which is the last day of grace. Do it now.

We suppose there are no heights to which a modern woman may not aspire. At least, Miss Annie E. Peck has succeeded in climbing a Peruvian mountain some 25,000 feet above the sea level, and the last we heard, Annie could not come down.—Ex.

A Sonoma club lady was asked if she had seen "The Great Divide," and of course she pretended to be much shocked when she answered, "The Directoire?" It's a shocking sort of dress, now isn't it?"

Wall Street bankers and brokers are deserting the office and sinker restaurants for high-class eating places, which is evidence of returning good times.

Sonoma has never become so famous as to be called, as was Petaluma, "a struggling village." This is a city of some class.

If the scheme to tattoo wives with the names of their husbands goes through, women will undoubtedly be dubbed "easy marks."

Since a ban has been put on smoking, the Santa Fe employees will have to find another way to get all puffed up.

Berkeley is to have a woman's hotel, but then Berkeley women don't gossip—we hope.

Hot Air.

After the return of a pleasure party from Santa Rosa yesterday Colonel John Carnes, late of the 31st Alabama, L. L. Lomax's division, said the wind was so fierce it blew a chew of tobacco out of his mouth, and comparing it with the big wind in Ireland, landlord Cucci fell dead and is lying in the morgue. Miss Breuner fainted, Jack Lally was stricken with heart failure; "Red" Lattimore and wife started out on foot and are stranded at Schellville; Max Rothchild is in Napa; Miss Kate Dougherty, the nurse, is ill from overwork and is in a sanitarium; the office of the Toscono has been draped in red velvet; and men speak with bated breath as they pass to and fro. Deputy Sheriff Joe Ryan and posse are scouring the county for Colonel Carnes; who, if caught, will be summarily dealt with. Two barrels of pazazas remain untouched and Col. Hank Green of San Francisco has been telegraphed for.

COFFEE

The world is full of anonymous coffee: "Java and Mocha."

Who returns your money if you don't like 'em?

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best; we pay him.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

The many friends of Mrs. L. H. Green, who was operated upon in St. Francis Hospital, San Francisco, two week's ago, will be pleased to learn that she had so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital last Monday. She is expected home tomorrow.

The Gundlach-Bundschu Wine Company has issued a neat folder in which it is announced that the offices and bottling departments of the company have been located in the new business district of San Francisco, at 18-20 and 22 California street at the junction of Market street, where the firm will be pleased to extend a courteous welcome to all its friends and patrons.

Mrs. Louise J. Pherson of this place was granted a divorce from P. B. Pherson by Judge Seawell last Tuesday, on the grounds of cruelty. The parties to the suit have lived for a number of years on the old Winkle ranch east of town. Family differences arose last winter, hence the suit and divorce. Frank Sprague was the attorney for Mrs. Pherson.

KICKED IN FACE BY FRISKY COLT.

J. H. Murray Has Bones of Nose Fractured and is Otherwise Injured About Face.

J. H. Murray, the well-known horseshoer, was kicked square in the face by a yearling colt last Wednesday afternoon, and received injuries which will lay him up for some time.

The accident happened in his horseshoeing shop on Napa street. There was a bunch of animals in the shop waiting to be shod, among them being a mare with a yearling colt. The latter being in his way, he approached it with the intention of driving it away, when the animal suddenly let fly both hind feet and caught him squarely in the face, badly mutilating his nose and knocking him down. The injured man, who was able to arise without assistance, was then taken to Dr. Thomson's office, where his injuries were attended to. It was found that the bones on the right side of the nose were fractured and his face badly mutilated. The doctor attended to the injuries, which it is feared will disfigure Mr. Murray for life.

An Old-Time Newspaper Man Here.

Max Rothschild ("Belle Franklin"), an old-time newspaper man, is in this city and keeps the waiters busy at the Hotel Toscano.

Mr. Rothschild is charmed with the climate and the energy displayed by our business men and citizens generally, and in this connection tells the following story of a visit to his old home in Mercer county, Ky., last July.

"After a ride from the train to the old Courthouse square, which I left some thirty-six years ago, I found the sons instead of the fathers, "whittling" their lives away. "Boys, this square must be cleaned, and I am going to get a wagon and some shovels, and Jim Smith, the Town Marshal, will put you all to work."

"For God's sake, Max, don't do it," spoke up Judge Hughes, Congressman John Thompson, State Senator Jack Chinn and County Clerk Frank Poteet, "we lead a simple arcadian life and these new ideas of yours will carry us off like flies", and in ten minutes the square was deserted, but the ladies came to my rescue, and the skulkers were brought in line, and the hall that once resounded with the eloquence of Sargent Smith Prentiss, the great "Thunderer of the Southwest," Henry Clay, Tom Marshall, John C. Breckinridge, and hosts of other celebrities, was soon "born over again."

"Here you have a spot as fair as the sun ever shone on, with all the advantages, and the arrival of the Moses is almost due."

Fell From a Ladder

Fred Schell fell from a ladder last Wednesday and received injuries that needed the care of a surgeon. Drs. Thomson and Hays attended the injured man. No bones were broken, but he was so badly shaken up that he will be confined to his home for some little time.

Death of Mrs. Rivean.

Ninth of September Celebration in Sonoma.

New City Hall Will be Dedicated With Appropriate Ceremonies—There Will be a Parade, Horse Racing, Free Barbecue and Other Features.

The celebration here on September 9th gives promise of being one of the biggest events that has ever taken place in the old town. J. K. Bigelow, Chairman of the Finance Committee, reports that nearly $1000 has already been subscribed to the celebration fund, which is more than ample to carry out all the details essential to the dedication of our new City Hall and a proper observance of California's natal day.

The orator of the day will be Hon Jas. D. Phelan, ex-Mayor of San Francisco, than whom no man is better or more widely known in the State.

Arrangements have been made with both the Northwestern Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroads to run special trains into Sonoma from San Francisco, Santa Rosa and other points in order to accommodate the crowds of people who will be with us on that date. The Native Sons of Santa Rosa, Alameda and San Francisco will attend in force, and their fetching uniforms will add much to the attractiveness of the parade, which will be led by the Petaluma military band.

Henry Beeson, of Boonville, Mendocino county, the only surviving member of the Bear Flag party, will be present and take an active part in the ceremonies. After a lapse of 62 years, the grizzled old veteran will again run up to the masthead of the old Bear Flag pole on our Plaza the original bear flag which he and his party flung to the breeze from its halyards in the days long ago. Beeson was then a stripling of barely eighteen years. To-day he lacks a few months of being four score years.

The parade will be one of the features of the day's festivities and will be under the leadership of Grand Marshal Arthur Landsborough.

There will be other attractions to interest the visitor, such as horse racing, musical and literary exercises, a grand ball in the evening at Union Hall, and last, but not least, a free barbecue, which will be presided over by that prince of chefs, Sam I. Allen, of Senastopol. This barbecue will be the biggest event of the kind ever before attempted in this part of the State, and provision has been made to feed all comers under the inviting shade trees in the Plaza.

Many noted people from all over the State will be with us on that day to observe the Ninth of September holiday and be present at the dedication of the new City Hall, which will mark a new era in the progress of the new Sonoma, the successor to the old Sonoma, one of the oldest towns in all California.

NOTES.

The Santa Rosa special train will not leave here until after 10 P. M., in order to allow the Santa Rosa people to attend the ball.

The parade will start from the Northwestern Pacific depot immediately after the arrival of the regular and special trains in the morning.

Bad Accident.

Leonard Billstine, the well-known cooper employed at the Mt. Pisgah winery, near Agua Caliente, met with a serious accident late Thursday afternoon. While working around the winery he fell from a ladder and broke a leg and several ribs. He was brought to town and taken to Green's sanitarium on Broadway, where his broken bones were set by Dr. Thomson. His injuries will confine him to the sanitarium for some time.

CITY TRUSTEES IN SEPTEMBER SESSION

Stone Bridge For Napa Street—Bills Allowed—Other Matters.

The City Trustees met in regular monthly session last Wednesday evening. Presiding officer Breitenbach was absent, owing to sickness in family, and the chair was filled by Trustee McDonell.

The meeting was an unimportant one and devoid of interest. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, the following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

H. Castagnasso, sprinkling sts, etc	$113 00
D. Valente, labor	2 00
W. O. Hocker, printing	5 10
E. Sherer, lab. r	5 50
H. Cooler, cleaning fire apparatus	2 50
Jas. H. Albertson, salary and exp	16 85

F. Crewe, furniture	24 00
S. V. Co., electric light	30 40
Eureka H. & W. Works, gate	40 00
Young & Co., plumbing	5 00

A petition was received from John R. Spellacy, asking for a wholesale liquor license, and on motion of Trustee Quartaroli the license was ordered issued.

On motion the contract with the electric light company was renewed for another month.

Three Deputy Marshals were appointed to serve on Admission Day at a compensation not to exceed $3 per day for each deputy.

On motion of Trustee Wagnon which received a second from Trustee Quartaroli, the Street Committee was authorized to procure plans and specifications, at a cost of not over $20, for a new stone bridge across the creek which crosses Napa street opposite the residence of V. Bulotti.

After a short discussion in regard to the forthcoming celebration here on September 9th, the Board stood adjourned.

Asparagus Farm at McGills

The cultivation of asparagus on the reclaimed marsh lands south of town has proved a success far beyond the expectations of superintendent Joe Koechler of the Pacific Reclamation Company's ranch at McGill's. Last season fifty acres were under cultivation, and next year another fifty acres will be planted to the succulent plant. The land is peculiarly adapted to asparagus culture, so much so that the acreage will be increased every year, and it is the intention of the Pacific Reclamation Company before planting ceases, to have one of the largest asparagus farms in the world.

SUPERIOR COURT CALENDAR DAY.

Judge Emmet Seawell Presides in Both Departments.

Judge Seawell called the calendar in both departments of the Superior Court Monday.

The demurrer was overruled in the suit of R. D. Dixon vs. W. I. Whittaker, and the suit went over to September 21.

Don McRae was arraigned and the plea was set for September 8.

The suit of Annie May Adams vs. Joseph Walker Adams was continued to September 8.

The Lydia F. Wickersham estate matter went over to September 8.

Giede B. Andressen was named administrator on the estate of J. D. Andressen in a bond of $2,080.

The final account was settled and distribution ordered of the estate of L. D. Gale. A similar order was made in the estate of John Law.

The final account was settled on the estate of A. Peterson.

The will of Jeremiah Macken was admitted to probate and Rose Macken was named executrix.

Distribution was ordered of the estate of Jean Couralet.

A sale of personal property was ordered in the estate of W. P. White.

These probate matters were continued: Estates of Albert Demartini and Louise H. Campau, to September 8.

The petition was dismissed in the estate of Alnson D. Barnes.

Wise Talks by the Office Boy.

The old man told me the other day that instead of expressing my opinions so freely, I ought to send some of them by freight. He was a little sore, I guess, because I asked him a conundrum he couldn't answer. Perhaps you can answer it. Here it is: "If an express company charges 2 cents per pound for hauling hats 10 miles to pay 1 per cent interest on a capitalization, which is, say 50 per cent water, who pays the freight." The old man is satisfied with a legitimate profit. That's the reason those swell suits are marked $20 instead of $25; and $22 50 instead of $27.50 and that's why our $2.00 hat is really a $2.00 hat elsewhere. That's why our ladies' goods are better values than you can buy elsewhere even after they've figured all the discounts off and lost all the money they say they lose.

Let us prove to you that we sell good merchandise on a small margin of profit than any store in ours in the country.

WILLIE,
With the Sonoma Racket Store.

A Substitute.

Mrs. Millsap's new girl, who never had gone out to service before and had had scarcely any experience as a cook, appeared to be willing and industrious and was quick to learn. In view of her inexperience she had readily agreed to work for $3.50 a week. Mrs. Millsap, who was an expert cook, had taken much pains with her education in that line, and at the end of five or six weeks Jemima was equal to any demands upon her in the line of kitchen work. The mistress was greatly surprised, therefore, when the maid one morning gave her a week's notice.

"What does this mean, Jemima?" she asked. "Haven't I treated you fairly?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered the girl, "but I've learned how to cook now, and I've found a place where I can get $5 a week right at the start."

"You didn't ask me to raise your wages. Do you think you are acting fairly with me?"

"Oh, I'm going to do the square thing with you, Mrs. Millsap," said Jemima. "I've got a sister about a year younger than I am, and she's perfectly willing to come here and work for $3.50 a week—till she learns cooking anyhow." — Youth's Companion.

Trivial Cause of a Bloody War.

In the year 1654 a Polish nobleman became obnoxious to the laws of his country by reason of his having committed a crime. He fled to Sweden, whereupon John Casimir, king of Poland, wrote to Charles Gustavus, king of Sweden, demanding the surrender of the criminal. The king of Sweden on reading the dispatch noticed that his own name and titles were followed by two "et ceteras," while the name of the king of Poland was followed by three. The missing "et cetera" so enraged the king of Sweden that he at once declared war against Poland. The war was carried on with great bitterness until 1660, when a peace was signed at Oliva, near Danzig. A contemporary writer (Kochowsky) poured out his lamentations on the war in these terms: "How dear has this 'et cetera' been to us! With how many lives have these two potentates paid for these missing eight letters! With what streams of blood has the failure of a few drops of ink been avenged!"

A Horse's Toe Nails.

Few persons realize that a horse's hoof is really the same thing as the toe nails of human beings or of animals having toes. The horn of a hoof grows just as a toe nail does. The hoof grows more rapidly in unshod horses than in those wearing shoes, and it grows faster in horses which are well groomed and well fed. But on an average the horn grows about a third of an inch a month. Hind hoofs grow faster than fore hoofs. The toe of the hoof being the longest part, it takes longer for the horn to grow down there than at the heel. For instance, the toe will grow entirely down in from eleven to thirteen months, while the heel will grow down in from three to five months. As the new horn grows out any cracks or defects in the old gradually work down to where they can be cut off, just as with human finger nails you can watch the progress of a bruise from the roof to the tip.—New York Sun.

Dictionary Users Modest.

"Men are never so modest as when they go to use a dictionary," remarked an attendant at the public library. "As a rule, when you see a man go to a public dictionary or one in any place where other people are around you'll see him look about furtively as if in fear somebody might see him. Men who make no pretensions at having any great amount of knowledge nevertheless seem to be embarrassed to have any one think that they do not know the pronunciation or meaning of some English word. The next time you see a man looking up a word in the dictionary just ask him what it is he is looking up and see if he will tell you. You'll find in at least nine cases out of ten that he won't tell you. He's afraid you'll know it and have the fun of enlightening him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Bibliophile's Reply.

Mandell Creighton, who was bishop of London, had a horror of lending his favorite books. A fellow clergyman once visited the bishop and took a fancy to an old edition of Shakespeare. He borrowed the volume and did not think to return it for several months. Finally the minister returned it with a letter, saying, "My Dear Bishop—I have great pleasure in returning the volume you lent me."

The bishop answered, "My Dear Brother—All the joy is mine."

Her Progress.

"The last time I saw you you were complaining about your servant being so slow."

"Oh, she's progressing now."

"Is she really?"

"Yes. She's getting slower and slower."—Exchange.

The Realistic Actor.

"Does he believe in realism?"

"Yes. But he carries it to excess. In the second scene he is severely wounded, and he has a doctor issue bulletins between the acts."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hot Retort.

The Writer—Ah, laugh at me if you will, but I will write of you in my journal that which will make you sick! The Artist—Everything that m'sieur writes makes me sick.—Life.

What ripens fast does not last.—Shakespeare.

Smells In Great Cities.

The man with a nose always recognizes the smell of the place, and he has only to land at Calais to smell garlic. London's smell—when the Londoner returns—is just soot and fried fish. Paris always smells of chocolate and wood smoke. Florence is violets and sewage. But so soon as you get to Russia the smell is quite different. Moscow, the city of fruit that comes from the Crimea, has a special smell of the cranberry (which has various names) in late summer. And you cannot land in St. Petersburg without noticing instantly the smell of the place.—London Chronicle.

Pyramids.

The largest of the Mexican pyramids, that of Cholula, has a base measurement of 1,488 feet and a height of 178 feet. The Great pyramid of Egypt, sometimes called the pyramid of Cheops, stands on a base each side of which was originally 764 feet long; but, owing to the removal of the coating, it is now only 746 fet. Its height, according to Wilkenson, was originally 480 feet 9 inches, its present height being 460 feet.—New York American.

Feminine Intuition.

Hattie—I'm positive George loves me and wants me to be his wife. Ella—Has he told you so? Hattie—No, but he has taken such a strong dislike to mamma.—Chicago Tribune.

The Uselessness of Worry.

Sympathy is loving understanding, and the expression of it helps a lot. Worry is sympathy run to seed—and that doesn't help in the least.—London Sketch.

Try Preventics, At My Risk With Book on Colds.

Just to prove merit—to show you how quickly Preventics can and will check colds or the Grippe—I will mail you free on request these samples and my book. Simply address — Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. Preventics are thoroughly harmless little Candy Cold Cure tablets. No Quinine, no laxative, nothing sickening whatever. To check early Colds or Grippe with "Preventics" means sure defeat for Pneumonia. To stop a cold with Preventics is surely safer than to let it run and be obliged to cure it afterward. Preventics will however reach a deeply seated cold. But taken early—at the sneeze stage—they break or head off these early colds. That is surely better—that is why they are named "Preventics." Promptness however is all-important. Promptness in the use of Preventics may save half your usual sickness. Feverishness, night or day, with child or adult, suggests the need of Preventics. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine Wis., today for samples and booklet. Preventics are sold by

Her Sunday Knitting.

"Years ago," said an Auburn woman eighty years young, "it was counted a sin among the good wives of the little Maine town where I was born to waste a single moment of time. I have heard my grandmother tell the story of one dame who much scandalized the church people on one never to be forgotten occasion. People who went early to church were surprised one Sabbath morning to see Aunt Betsy sitting away up in front, gray yarn stockings in her hands and her knitting needles clicking merrily away as she worked. The minister stopped in surprise as he passed her on his way to the pulpit, but the old lady was not one whit disturbed by his disapproving air. Smiling serenely, she said complacently: 'Thought I'd knit a stitch while the people are gathering. I never was one to waste a minute, elder.' And the good dame continued to click her needles, while the horrified minister hastened to his desk. Not till he began his sermon did Aunt Betsy lay aside her Sunday knitting work."—Kennebec Journal.

Carlyle Was a Terror.

The domestic infelicity of the Carlyles is common knowledge, but it is not inappropriate to give Mrs. Carlyle's view of her husband. "If he would only be satisfied!" she used to sometimes complain of Carlyle. "But I have had to learn that when he does not find fault he is pleased, and that has to content me."

On one occacion when Carlyle was away from home Mrs. Carlyle busied herself to get all in perfect order for her husband's arrival, and when all was complete—his dinner ready, his armchair in its usual position, his pipe and tobacco prepared, all looking as comfortable as possible—Mrs. C. sat down at last to rest and to expect him with a quiet mind. He arrived, and "after he had greeted me, what do you think he did? He walked to the window and shook it and asked, 'Where's the wedge of the window?' And until we had found that blessed wedge nothing would content him. He said the window would rattle and spoil all."

Hard and Soft.

"What," asked the teacher, "does anthracite mean?"

"That's a kind of coal," said little Willie.

"Yes. Anthracite coal is what we call hard coal. So 'anthracite' must mean 'hard.' Now, can you tell me what 'bituminous' means?"

"That's coal, too," Willie replied.

"But it isn't the same kind of coal that anthracite is, is it? Bituminous coal is what we commonly refer to as soft coal. Now, Willie, let us see if you can form a sentence containing the words anthracite and bituminous."

Willie thought the matter over for a minute and then said:

'Here's one: 'This morning before pa started downtown ma wanted $5 for groceries and things, and she tried to get it by saying bituminous words, but pa gave her an anthracite look, and when he disappeared around the corner she was weeping bituminously.'"

She Investigated.

What Elsie's sister wanted to know was where Elsie got that beautiful silver mounted walking stick. But Elsie didn't want Elsie's sister to know, so Elsie's sister got Elsie's father to ask Elsie.

"I found it," Elsie poutingly informed her father, "floating like a schooner on the waves one day when I was bathing."

But two days later Elsie's sister said to Elsie:

"Come—tell me! What is his name?"

"Name!" repeated Elsie blankly. "What do you mean?"

"I mean, dear," said Elsie's sister, "that last night I tried to make that stick of yours float in the bath, and—well, darling, it sank!" — Pearson's Weekly.

A Metaphor With a History.

To "know a hawk from a hernshaw" is a metaphor with a curious history. It is a comparison drawn from falconry. "Hernshaw" is a corruption of "heronshaw," or young heron, a bird which was a common prey of the falcons. To know a hawk from a hernshaw is therefore to be able to distinguish the falcon from its prey. A further colloquial corruption crept into the phrase—"to know a hawk from a handsaw," a form used by Hamlet in one place. Possibly the distinction between a hawk and a hernshaw was found not to be strong enough for the purposes of the proverb.—Manchester Guardian.

Agreed With the Lecturer.

During a lecture at one of the schools on the subject of "Ventilation and Architecture," the temperature of the room rose to a very high pitch.

"And now we will turn to Greece," said the lecturer.

"So we will," said one of the audience, wiping his brow, "unless you open some of the windows."—Pathfinder.

Out of It.

"Yes, he makes a big hit with her. He has a green automobile, and it matches her dress."

"Well, why don't you take her driving?"

"I ain't got no green horse."—St. Louis Republic
